Methodology

Reporting criteria

The NCRP collected data on all prison admissions and releases and on all parole entries and discharges for calendar year 1992 in participating jurisdictions. Multiple admissions or releases per person during the year are recorded as separate events. The NCRP data cover prisoners admitted to or released from custody regardless of the jurisdiction where the prisoner was sentenced.

To assure greater comparability across jurisdictions, the 1992 report includes only inmates with a sentence of more than a year except where noted. Information on all inmates, including those with a sentence of a year or less, is contained in the public-use data tape that may be obtained from the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data at the University of Michigan.

State prison admissions

In 1992, 38 States, the District of Columbia, and the California Youth Authority reported 431,279 admissions, accounting for nearly 93% of all admissions to State prisons in that year. The participating jurisdictions included Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

State prison releases

Release data for 1992 are based on information provided by 36 States. The District of Columbia, Florida, and Maine were not included in the release data set. These 37 participating States reported a total of 347,854 releases, which accounted for nearly 86% of the releases from State prisons. Of the total, 228,066 were first releases, those released from prison for the first time on their current sentence. Excluded from first releases were persons who had previously been conditionally released from prison for the same offense and then were returned to prison for violating the conditions of that release.

State parole entry

Approximately 84% of prisoners leaving State prisons in 1992 were released to supervision in the community. In these data covering 36 States there were 198,009 first entries to parole supervision from State prisons. These prisoners were released to parole either by decision of a parole board (discretionary parole release) or by provision of the statute under which they were sentenced (mandatory parole release).

State parole discharges

In 1992, 29 States reported 221,552 discharges from parole supervision, with 125,620 discharged for the first time on their current sentence. The participating States included Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Terms and definitions

Prison admissions — persons in physical custody regardless of jurisdiction, whether held in State prison facilities or local jail because of overcrowding, safekeeping, or some other reason.

New court commitments — persons entering prison directly from a sentence by a court and not from an unsuccessful period of community supervision (parole). Includes new court admissions, probation revocations, and admissions after the imposition of a suspended sentence.

Parole revocations (prison admissions) — the administrative action of a paroling authority removing a person from parole status in response to a violation of conditions of parole, including commission of a new offense, often resulting in the offender being returned to prison.

Maximum sentence length — the sentence for the most serious offense — as determined by the offense with the longest sentence. Whenever a sentence had both a minimum and a maximum term, the maximum was used to define the sentence length.

Total sentence length — the longest time that an offender could be required to serve for all offenses.

Minimum time to be served — the jurisdiction's estimate of the shortest time that each admitted prisoner must serve before becoming eligible for release. Factors used in this estimate include minimum sentence length, good-time credits, earned-time credits, parole eligibility requirements, and early release requirements and allowances.

Life sentence — any prison sentence with a fixed or maximum term of life in prison, regardless of the possibility of parole.

Prison release — anyone leaving the physical custody, regardless of jurisdiction, whether held in State prison facilities or local jail because of overcrowding, safekeeping, or some other reason. This excludes movements to and from jail or prison for court appearances, medical treatments, furloughs/conjugal visits, work releases, transfers, releases to custody, detainees, or warrants, and deaths. Valid release includes persons who have left prison because of expiration of sentence, a pardon, commutation of sentence, parole, or some other conditional release to community supervision.

First release from prison — anyone released for the first time on the current sentence. Excluded from first releases from prison are persons who had previously been conditionally released from prison for the same offense and then were returned to prison for violating the conditions of that release.

Subsequent release from prison — persons released from prison after having admitted to prison for a violation of parole or other conditional release.

Conditional release — anyone released from prison into community supervision with a set of behavioral conditions for remaining on parole, which, if violated, can cause the inmate to be returned to prison. This incarceration can be for any of the remaining portion of the sentence the inmate may have on the current offense.

State statutes often determine what conditions prisoners must fulfill to enter parole. For example, some States specify the fraction of a sentence that offenders must serve — such as a third or a fourth — before entering parole. Other States have a mandatory minimum time to be served for certain crimes or for specified circumstances of a crime. Yet other States have parole guidelines that set ranges of time to be served for different types of crimes.

Parole entry — anyone conditionally released from prison by an executive authority — a parole board or legislative statute — prior to expiration of sentence, and who is required to observe conditions of release, with community supervision administered by a parole agency. Discretionary release occurs when a parole board approves a conditional release to community supervision. Mandatory release occurs by State statute after an inmate has served time equal to the total sentence minus good time, if any, or to a stipulated percentage of the total sentence.

First parole entry — anyone released from prison to community supervision for the first time on their current sentence.

Unconditional release — anyone released from any further correctional supervision and who can not be returned to prison for any remaining portion of the sentence for the current offense.

Time served in prison — the amount of time spent in prison between the date of admission and the date of release. Time served in prison underestimates the actual time served because it excludes time spent in jail that was credited to the prison sentence for the current offense are not available for most inmates. All tables in the report present data for time served in prison only.

Time served on parole — the amount of time spent on parole between the date of prison release and the date of parole discharge.

Credited prior jail time — the amount of time an offender spent in jail before sentencing that the judge credited toward the prison sentence.

Total time under supervision — calculated by adding time spent in prison and time spent on parole. Jail time credits are not included in the estimate of the total time under supervision.

Offenses

Each State's offenses are recoded to a common set of offense codes. In this report, attempts and conspiracies are included with completed offenses, except for attempted murders and conspiracies to commit murder, which are classified as assaults.

Offense types appearing in this report include the following offenses:	Burglary — breaking and entering, burglary, and safecracking.
Violent offense — crimes involving personal injury or threat of injury, and theft of property or attempted theft by confrontational force or threat of force.	Larceny — theft, petty larceny, and grand larceny.
Homicide — murder, felony murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, voluntary manslaughter, negligent manslaughter, involuntary manslaughter, and unspecified homicide.	Motor vehicle theft — auto theft, conversion of an automobile, receiving and transferring a stolen vehicle, and unauthorized use of a vehicle.
Murder/nonnegligent manslaughter — murder, felony murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and voluntary manslaughter.	Arson — arson and burning a thing of value.
Murder — murder and felony murder.	Fraud — worthless checks, uttering, obtaining money by false pretenses, credit card fraud, forgery, counterfeiting, and embezzlement.
Nonnegligent manslaughter — voluntary manslaughter, nonnegligent manslaughter, and aggravated manslaughter.	Stolen property — possession, transportation, receiving, or selling of stolen property.
Manslaughter — negligent manslaughter, vehicular manslaughter, involuntary manslaughter, and negligent homicide.	Other property — destruction of property, vandalism, criminal tampering, trespassing, entering without breaking, and possession of burglary tools.
Unspecified homicide — homicide type not specified.	Drug offense — manufacture, possession, distribution, or sale of illegal or controlled substances, illegal alteration of prescriptions, and illegal possession of drug paraphernalia.
Kidnaping — abduction, kidnaping, and felonious restraint.	Drug possession — illegal possession or use of controlled substances.
Rape — forcible rape, aggravated rape, sexual intercourse, and forcible sodomy without consent.	Drug trafficking — importation, manufacture, sale, or delivery of controlled substances, and possession with intent to deliver.
Other sexual assault — statutory rape, carnal abuse, gross sexual imposition by force, fondling, child molestation, and lewd acts with children.	Other drug — forging or uttering a false prescription for a controlled substance; possession of drug paraphernalia, unknown drug offenses, and violations of controlled substance acts where the type of violation was unspecified.
Robbery — unarmed robbery, armed robbery, aggravated robbery, and forcible purse snatching.	Public-order offense — a set of offenses against the rules and regulations governing social order such as prostitution, bribery, gambling, and corruption. Excluded are crimes directed against individuals or groups or their property.
Assault — attempted murder, simple assault, aggravated assault, aggravated battery, vehicular assault, and criminal injury to persons.	Weapons — unlawful sale, distribution, manufacture, transportation, or possession of a deadly or dangerous weapon.
Other violent — extortion, intimidation, hit-and-run driving with bodily injury, child abuse, and criminal endangerment against a person.	Driving while intoxicated — drunk driving and driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs.
Property offense — theft (without confrontational force or threat of force), illegal entry, illegal transportation, illegal receipt of property, and illegal alteration or destruction of a thing of value.

Other public-order— escape from custody, court offenses, obstruction, other traffic offenses, drunkenness, disorderly conduct, morals and decency violations, commercialized vice, and liquor law violations.

Other offenses— juvenile offenses and unspecified felonies.

Technical notes

Median and mean

The medians in this report were calculated from ungrouped data, since sentencing data do not conform to the standard assumptions permitting calculations from grouped data. Because nearly all sentences are multiples of 12-month units, the assumption of an even distribution of values within groups is not met. Therefore, a shift of only a few cases may increase or decrease the median by 12 months.

In contrast to the calculation of medians, mean sentence lengths exclude prisoners with a sentence of life in prison or death. Medians are sensitive to the uneven distribution of cases; means are influenced by extreme values. Because of the limitations of each measure, both medians and means were reported for sentence length.

Time served data do not group at 12-month intervals. Both medians and means have been reported in most tables to provide an accurate summary of the data.

Measuring trends

Care should be exercised when comparing sentence lengths and time served published in 1992 with data published in previous years. Year-to-year comparisons should be restricted to those jurisdictions reporting data in all years of interest. The group of jurisdictions participating in 1992 may differ from the group of participating States in previous years. A State may participate one year and not in subsequent years, or new States may be added to the group of participants from year to year.

To allow for comparability across years, the same States were included in the analysis of year-to-year changes as well as changes over 5 years. Some States included in the analysis of prison admissions were excluded from the analysis of prison releases.

A State had to provide data for 1988, 1991, and 1992 to be included. If a State furnished admissions data for all 3 years, but parole discharge data for 1 year, it was included for analysis of admissions trends but excluded for analysis of parole discharge trends.

Data for trends in admissions included 33 States: Alabama, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Data for trends in releases excluded Florida.

Data for trends in parole discharges included 27 States: Alabama, California, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Data accuracy and completeness

Thirty-eight States and the District of Columbia furnished BJS with data on prison admissions, 37 States with numbers on prison releases, and 29 States with information on parole discharges. Data providers in each jurisdiction reviewed preliminary tabulations and confirmed the accuracy and completeness of the data.

Explanatory notes

Race

California codes Asians/Pacific Islanders as "unknown."

Colorado, Illinois, Minnesota, New York, Oklahoma, and Texas code inmates of Hispanic origin as "unknown."

Ohio codes American Indians/Alaska Natives, and Asians/Pacific Islanders as "unknown."

South Carolina's parole release records code any persons other than white or black as "unknown."

Hispanic origin

In California, Michigan, and Oklahoma, Hispanics include only those of Mexican origin.

In New York, Hispanics include only persons of Puerto Rican birth or parentage.

Education

Maryland data include credits for education received after entering prison for parole discharge records only.

Ohio data include people who have a college degree in the category of "some college."

Admission date

In Nevada and New York, the date of admission to prison is the original admission date, rather than the most recent date for parole discharges who had been parole violators and then released to parole.

Admission type

In Colorado and New York, "new court commitments" includes some parole violators returned with new sentences.

In Hawaii and Maryland, "new court commitments" includes all types of admissions.

In Massachusetts, "transfers" includes returns to prison after court appearance, temporary Interstate transfers, transfers from other States, transfers from county to State custody, and transfers from other secure facilities.

In Minnesota, "new court commitments" includes probation violators. Also, "parole revocation with or without new sentence" includes mandatory parole violators returned and work release violators returned.

In Nevada, "parole revocation, new sentence" and "parole revocation, no new sentence" may have been underreported.

For parole release records in New York, admission type for parole revocations were reported for those with no new sentence only. There are no probation revocations because probation is considered a county function.

In North Carolina, "probation revocation" includes persons whose parole status was pending. Also, "parole revocation, no sentence information" includes all parole violators with or without new sentences as well as pending parole revocations.

In Ohio, "new court commitments" include an undetermined number of parole violators returned with new sentences.

In South Carolina, "parole revocation, no sentence information" includes revocation of Supervised Furlough II releases and Emergency Powers Act releases. Also, "escapees returned" are not counted as admissions.

In Texas, "parole revocation, no sentence information" and "mandatory parole revocation, no sentence information" include all parole revocations, with or without new sentences. Also, "not known" includes inmates returning from vocational or educational programs.

In Wisconsin, "parole revocation, new sentence" and "parole revocation, no new sentence" include returns of inmates released early because of overcrowding.

Offenses

Minnesota reports only most recent offense instead of the most serious.

New Jersey, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, and South Carolina, reported only one offense—the most serious.

---

Maximum sentence and total maximum sentence

In Illinois and Maryland, persons receiving indeterminate sentences were reported as "not known" on sentence length.

In Virginia, "life" includes sentences of "life without parole" and death.

In Washington, "life" includes "life without parole."

Texas reports only total maximum sentence instead of maximum sentence for the most serious offense.

Minimum time to be served

Maryland did not report "minimum sentence" because there is no statute establishing minimum sentence.

Prison release method

For the California Youth Authority, "other conditional releases" includes some discharges to prison.

"Other unconditional releases" in Maryland, Ohio, and Texas consists of court-ordered releases.

In Massachusetts, "parole board decision" includes some inmates released by the Massachusetts parole board to another parole board.

In Minnesota, "other conditional releases" includes work releases. "Other unconditional releases" consists of discharges of persons with indeterminate sentences by the releasing authority.

In Mississippi, "other unconditional releases" includes shock probation, court suspensions, and court-ordered releases. Also, "other conditional releases" includes split sentences, work release, and supervised earned releases.

In Nebraska, "other unconditional releases" consists of persons whose sentence was vacated.

In New York, "parole board decision" includes some inmates released by "commutation/pardon." "Mandatory parole releases" includes early releases for good time served. Releases to custody, detainer, or warrant are coded as either "parole board decision" or "mandatory parole release."

In Ohio, "other conditional releases" consists of releases for educational or vocational purposes, inmates paroled or shock paroled, on detainer, and under interstate compact. Other releases" consists of inmates-at-large who did not belong to any other NCRP category.

In Oklahoma, "transfers to probation and probation from house arrest" are coded as "probation release."

In South Carolina, "parole board decision" on prison release records includes inmates released from a Youthful Offenders Act sentence to a straight sentence. "Other unconditional release" on prison release records includes those inmates who paid a fine after serving some prison time; those whose sentence was reduced; those who were retried; and those released for medical reasons. On parole release records, "parole board decision" includes inmates released to supervised furlough, and "other conditional releases" consists of Emergency Powers Act releases.

In Tennessee, "other unconditional releases" consists of unconditional releases to probation.

In Texas, "other releases" includes inmates released to attend vocational or educational facilities.

In Washington, some 1,200 inmates coded as released by "parole board decision" or "mandatory release" were actually "transferred."

In Wisconsin, "parole board decision" includes early releases because of overcrowding.

Parole release method

In Maryland, inmates who failed to comply with special conditions of their parole were coded as "discharged, absconder."

In New York, "other releases" include parole board decision, court-ordered releases; new revocations, not pursued; and cases in the revocation process in which statutory requirements were not fulfilled.

In Pennsylvania, "other releases" includes persons who have reached their maximum expiration date and are in one of the following categories: criminal charges pending, absconded, and returned to home State.

Admissions to State prison

State prison admissions Most of the 431,279 admissions to State prison in 1992 were members of a racial minority, men, under age 30, and entering directly from court. Almost three-quarters of them were entering for a nonviolent offense.

- 92% male
- 20% Hispanic of any race
- 54% black and 45% white
- 54% under age 30

Fig 1a

Black, Asian, Native American, and Hispanic inmates made up 67% of all new court commitments.

Race	Percent of new court commitments with a sentence greater than a year
	All	Male	Female
All	100%	100%	100%
White	33	33	36
Black	47	47	52
Other	1	1	1
Hispanic	19	20	12
Total number	204,197	187,043	17,154

Offenses Nonviolent inmates comprised 71% of new court admissions, while violent offenders made up 29%. Six offenses made up 65% of the admissions to prison following a court sentence. Two of the six were drug offenses, which were responsible for almost a quarter of the admissions.

Offenses	Percent of new court commitments
Drug trafficking	19%
Burglary	13
Robbery	10
Assault	8
Larceny/theft	8
Drug possession	7

Two-thirds of violent admissions entered prison as new court commitments

- Murderers comprised 2% of new court commitments.

Drug trafficking accounted for the largest percentage of both men (18%) and women (24%) admitted to prison for the first time on their sentence in 1992. Whites were more likely to enter prison for burglary, and blacks, for drug trafficking.

New court commitments
	Male inmates	Female inmates
18% Drug trafficking	24% Drug trafficking
14 Burglary	16 Larceny/theft
10 Robbery	12 Fraud
White inmates
17% Burglary	22% Drug trafficking
14 Drug trafficking	13 Robbery
9 Larceny/theft	11 Burglary
Black inmates

Sentence length Almost 94% of new court commitments entered prison with a maximum sentence greater than 1 year but less than life. Half of State prison admissions were serving a maximum sentence of 4 years or less.

- Violent offenders entering prison in 1992 had an average sentence of 104 months, almost twice the sentence of property and drug offenders and almost 2½ times that of public-order offenders.

- About 63% of violent offenders, but 32% of nonviolent offenders, had a sentence of 5 years or more.

Percent of new court commitments with a maximum sentence of less than —

Offense	1 year and 1 day	5 years	10 years	20 years
All	4%	59%	82%	94%
Violent	1	37	64	84
Nonviolent	6	68	90	97

The average murder sentence that was a term of years was almost 25 years, the longest for any offense category.

Most serious offense	Mean sentence length in months
Murder	279 months
Rape	144
Robbery	99
Assault	74
Burglary	65
Drug trafficking	61
Drug possession	53
Larceny/theft	40

- 2% of entering inmates had a sentence to life or death.
- 53% of entering murderers had a sentence to life in prison or death.
- For murder, white offenders entering prison had an average sentence of 271 months and black offenders, 287 months.

Credited jail time
Before trial or sentencing many persons are held in a local jail. About 90% of inmates entering prison in 1992 had some jail time credited towards their sentence. Those convicted of homicide received the most credited jail time (10 months).

Violent offenders received more credited jail time on average (7 months) than property or drug offenders (5 months each), or public-order offenders (4 months).

On average inmates received 5 months credited jail time

The mean sentence for black admissions in 1992 was 7 months longer than that for white admissions

Note: Data on maximum sentence length were reported for 80.0% of the 284,020 new court commitments with a total sentence of more than a year for whom the most serious offense was reported. Data on maximum sentence length were reported for 87.4% of the 122,891 parole violators with a total sentence of more than a year for whom the most serious offense was reported.

*Less than 0.05%.
 ^Maximum sentence length is the sentence length that an offender may be required to serve for the most serious offense.
 *Includes sentences of life without parole, life plus additional years, life, and death.
 *Excludes sentences of life without parole, life plus additional years, life, and death.

Note: Data are based on new court commitments with a total sentence of more than a year for whom sentence length and minimum time to be served were reported. Data on minimum time to be served and maximum sentence length were reported for 58.0% of the 284,020 new court commitments with a total sentence length of more than a year for whom the most serious offense was reported.

<sup>a</sup>Maximum sentence length is the sentence length that an offender may be required to serve for the most serious offense.

<sup>b</sup>Minimum time to be served is the jurisdiction's estimate of the shortest time that each admitted prisoner must serve before becoming eligible for release.

<sup>c</sup>Includes sentences of life, life without parole, life plus additional years, and death.

Note: Data sentence length are based on all new court commitments for whom the most serious offense, maximum sentence length, minimum time to be served, and race were reported.

-- No statistic was calculated because there were fewer than 10 cases.

<sup>a</sup>Maximum sentence length is the sentence length that an offender may be required to serve for the most serious offense.

<sup>b</sup>Minimum time to be served is the jurisdiction's estimate of the shortest time that each admitted prisoner must serve before becoming eligible for release.

<sup>c</sup>The percent of sentence that authorities expect prisoners to serve is calculated by dividing the mean minimum time to be served by the mean maximum sentence length.

<sup>d</sup>Includes sentences of life without parole,

life plus additional years, life, and death.

<sup>e</sup>Excludes sentences of life without parole,

life plus additional years, life, and death.

Releases from State prison

State prison releases In 1992, a majority of the 347,854 prisoners released from State prison were conditionally released to community supervision. Most of those released were male, minority, and young. Most had been incarcerated for drug trafficking. Overall, half had served at least 3 months in jail and 13 months in prison.

Releases from prison were of two primary types: first and subsequent.

- First releases, persons leaving prison for the first time on a sentence, accounted for 69% of all releases from State prison in 1992.
- Subsequent releases — inmates who had been released to community supervision before returning to prison — made up 27%.
- 4% died in prison, were transferred, or had an unknown type of release.

Method of release About 4 in 5 released prisoners entered some form of correctional supervision. About 1 in 10 those released left prison upon expiration of sentence.

- 291,127 (84% of all releases) were conditionally released to some form of community supervision
- 40,271 (12 %) were unconditionally released.

Fig 2a

Characteristics In terms of race, sex, and age, inmates released from State prison resembled those admitted in the same year. Among all those released —

- 92% were male
- 53% black and 46% were white
- 20% were Hispanic of any race
- 48% under age 30.

Offenses Property offenders comprised the largest category of prison releases. For individual offenses, drug traffickers made up the largest group of first releases, and burglars, subsequent releases.

- About 75% of both first and subsequent releases were sentenced for a nonviolent offense.

Most serious offense	Percent of prison releases
	First releases	Subsequent releases
Property	34%	40%
Drug	31	26
Violent	25	24
Public-order	10	7

Six of twenty-three offense categories made up 65% of the first releases from State prison.

Offense	Percent of first releases
	First releases	Subsequent releases
Drug trafficking	19%	19%
Burglary	14	14
Robbery	10	10
Larceny/theft	9	9
Drug possession	7	7
Assault	6	6

- Sex offenders comprised 4% of first releases and 3% subsequent releases.
- Murderers constituted 1% of both first and subsequent releases.

Time served Like sentences imposed, time served reflects the seriousness of the offense as well as the criminal history of the offender. It varies by offense and the backgrounds of groups of offenders.

Violent first releases had served about twice as long in prison as property and drug offenders and almost 3 times as long as public-order offenders.

Most serious offense

Violent	37 months
Property	17
Drugs	16
Public-order	13

The average number of months served for violent crimes was —

Murder	96 mos.
Nonnegligent manslaughter	61
Rape	59
Kidnapping	45
Robbery	39
Negligent manslaughter	36

Among inmates leaving prison for the first time on a sentence, the average amount of time credited to their sentence was about the same for all offense categories.

Most serious offense	Mean months served by inmates with:
	Credited jail time	Time served in prison
All	5 mos.	22 mos.
Violent	6	38
Property	5	18
Drug	5	16
Public-order	4	14

- Men served longer in prison (an average of 22 months) than women (15 months).
- Overall, black offenders served an average of 2 months longer in prison than white offenders (22 months versus 20). Blacks served 3 months longer than whites for a violent offense.

Among those released for the first time on a sentence, inmates had served an average of 36% of their maximum sentence.

Most serious offense	Percent of maximum sentence served in prison
All	35%
Violent	42
Public-order	37
Property	32
Drug	30

First releases convicted of rape had served the largest percentage of their sentence of all released offenders — an average of 50%.

Most serious offense	Percent of sentence served
Rape	50%
Nonnegligent manslaughter	45
Other sexual assault	42
Robbery	40
Assault	38
Negligent manslaughter	37

- Murderers with a sentence of a term of years served 41% of that sentence in prison.

Except for robbery and drug trafficking, black inmates served on average longer in prison than white inmates

Note: Data are based on releases from prison with a total sentence of more than a year.

<sup>a</sup>Includes the 1,669 cases of those who died, 6,163 cases of those who escaped or were AWOL, 6,067 cases of other releases, and 2,523 cases with missing data for release type.

<sup>b</sup>Includes all conditional releases. A conditional release occurs if the released inmate, upon violating the conditions of the release, can be imprisoned again for any unserved portion of the sentence.

<sup>c</sup>Includes expiration of sentence, commutations, pardons, and other unconditional releases. Unconditional release is anyone released from any further correctional supervision and who can not be reimprisoned for any remaining portion of the sentence for the current offense.

<sup>d</sup>Includes those released from prison for the first time on their current sentence. Excludes deaths, escape/AWOL, other releases, and unknowns.

<sup>e</sup>Includes those inmates released after having been returned to prison for a parole violation. Subsequent releases include those inmates released multiple times on their current sentence. Excludes deaths, escape/AWOL, other releases, and unknowns.

<sup>f</sup>All releases were reported as first releases.

<sup>g</sup>All releases were reported as unknown but reclassified as first releases.

<sup>a</sup>A conditional release occurs if the released inmate, upon violating the conditions of the release, can be imprisoned again for any unserved portion of the sentence.

<sup>b</sup>Discretionary release occurs when a parole board approves a conditional release to community supervision.

<sup>c</sup>Mandatory release occurs when a statute requires that a prisoner be released conditionally. The prisoner has served time equal to the full sentence minus good time, if any. A mandatory release must meet the requirements of a conditional release until the sentence expires or until a period set by law has elapsed.

<sup>d</sup>An unconditional release occurs only if the inmate is released without being required to submit to community supervision and the inmate cannot be returned to prison to serve any remaining portion of the original sentence.

First entries to parole from State prison

State parole entries Thirty-six States released from prison and placed on parole 198,009 inmates. The majority were male, minority group members, and in their late twenties. Slightly less than a third of community supervision entries had been admitted to prison for property or drug offenses. About two-thirds of the entries came into community supervision through a parole board decision.

Characteristics Parole entries have the same pattern of characteristics as inmates released from prison. Of all parole entries—

- 91% were male
- 54% were blacks and 45% whites
- 22% were Hispanic
- 50% under age 30.
- 63% of inmates entered parole through parole board action, 29% by State statute, and 8% by some other conditional release.

Offenses Property and drug offenders made up 64% of inmates entering parole. About a fourth of prison releases had been convicted of a violent offense.

Fig 3a

Sentence length On average the majority of inmates paroled in 1992 had served slightly less than a third of their sentence.

- Overall, offenders served an average of 22 months in prison before being released to parole.
- Violent offenders served an average of 39 months, as compared to 18 months for property and 16 months for drug offenders.

Method of release Inmates released by a parole board (discretionary decision) served a smaller proportion of their sentence than those released by State statute (mandatory).

Most serious offense	Discretionary	Mandatory
All	20%	37%
Violent	27	47
Property	17	31
Drug	18	30
Public-order	19	41

- Overall, offenders released through a parole board had served a mean of 22 months, compared to 19 months for those whose time had been set by statute.

Discharges from State parole

State parole discharges Twenty-nine States discharged 221,552 parolees; 125,620 of them for the first time on their current sentence. About 50% of all persons leaving parole were successfully discharged. Whites, on average, spent more time in prison and on parole than blacks for violent, property, and drug offenses. Unsuccessful discharges served longer in prison and on parole than successful discharges.

Among all persons leaving parole —

- 49% of those eligible to leave had a successful discharge from community supervision.
- 48% were returned to prison.

Among persons leaving parole for the first time on a sentence, white men and women were the most likely to be successfully discharged

About 3% men and women of each race were discharged for reasons such as death or absconding.

Fig. 4a

Offenses Over two-thirds of property, drug, or violent offenders completed parole successfully.

Among first parole discharges —

- 83% of public-order offenders
- 70% of drug
- 68% of violent
- 67% of property offenders — successfully left parole and were not returned to prison.

- Among all types of offenders, the first discharges most likely to successfully complete parole were those convicted of driving while intoxicated.

Most serious offense	Percent of discharges successfully completed parole
Driving while intoxicated	92%
Negligent manslaughter	84
Other sexual assault	84
Nonnegligent manslaughter	82
Kidnaping	78
Assault	77

- Parolees convicted of robbery were more likely to return to prison than other types of offenders.

Most serious offense	Percent of parole discharges returned to prison
Robbery	39%
Burglary	33
Drug possession	33
Motor vehicle theft	32
Stolen property	32
Murder	29
Rape	28

- 26% of drug traffickers were returned to prison after having been discharged from parole for the first time.

Time served In prison and on parole

On average, successful first parole discharges served slightly more than a total of 3 years in prison and on parole. Generally, men spent more total time in prison and on parole than women for the same type of offense.

Violent offenders who successfully completed parole had a longer average time in prison (34 months) and on parole (23 months) than other offenders

- Murderers successfully released from parole served the longest of all types of offenders in prison and on parole, almost 10 years.

- Rapists successfully discharged from parole served a total of almost 7 years in prison and on parole.

- Drug traffickers served slightly less than 3 years.

All first discharges who successfully completed parole served 63% of their maximum sentence in prison and on parole. By offense, successful completion was —

- 68% of public-order offenders
- 66% of drug offenders
- 63% of violent offenders
- 60% of property offenders.

Overall, whites who were successfully discharged from parole had served longer in prison and on parole than blacks (38 months versus 36 months).

Trends in State prison inmate populations

Introduction From 1988 to 1992 the number of prison admissions and parole discharges increased steadily. Sentences generally decreased while time served in prison remained relatively stable except for violent offenses.

Prison admissions For the 33 jurisdictions providing data for 1988, 1991, and 1992, the number of minorities entering prison increased. The percentage of admissions for drug offenders surpassed the percentages for other offenses. The overall sentence length for new court commitments decreased 12% between 1988 and 1992.

- All admissions increased about 36% from 1988 to 1992.

Year	Number of inmates	Annual percent change	Total percent change since 1988
1988	300,688	--	--
1991	366,155	21.7%	21.7%
1992	407,585	11.3	35.6

- New court commitments increased about 34%.
- During the 5-year period, the number of blacks entering prison increased 42% (from 103,534 to 146,507), twice the rate of white inmates, (from 98,052 to 122,361).
- While the percentage of violent new court commitments declined 2% between 1988 and 1992, the number increased from 59,953 to 77,084.

Offense	1988	1992
Violent	30%	28%
Property	38	31
Drug	25	30
Public-order	7	9

The average sentence length for new court commitments declined between 1988 and 1992

Fig 5a

The number of new court commitments convicted of a drug offense increased 64% from 1988 to 1992 (50,300 to 82,400)

Fig 5b

Prison releases For the 32 jurisdictions contributing data for all 3 years, time served in prison remained relatively stable except for certain violent offenses. Those released in 1992 were serving a larger percentage of their sentence than those released in 1988.

The percentage of sentence served in prison increased over the 5 years.

Offense	Percent of sentence served in prison
	1988	1992
All	32%	34%
Violent	37	40
Property	28	32
Drug	27	30
Public-order	32	36

- From 1988 to 1992, among all inmates released from prison, those with a sentence for murder or rape experienced the largest increase in time served in prison (9 months).

Offense	Mean time served in prison
	1988	1992

Larceny/theft	15	13
Drug	15 mos.	16 mos.
Possession	13	15
Trafficking	17	17
Public-order	15 mos.	13 mos.

Parole discharges Overall, those successfully discharged from parole in 1992 spent about the same amount of total time under correctional supervision as those in 1988. Offenders unsuccessfully discharged in 1992 served slightly less total time than those in 1988.

- The number of all parole discharges increased 80% from 1988 to 1992.
- The percentage of all discharges who were unsuccessful declined from 41% in 1988 to 36% in 1992.

Type of parole discharge	Percent of parole discharges
	1988	1991	1992
Successful	55.1%	60.9%	61.5%
Unsuccessful	40.7	36.7	35.9

- Among successful parole discharges, compared to property and drug offenders, violent offenders served longer in prison and on parole.

Correctional Populations in the United States, 1992

The 8th annual BJS report on the Nation's jail and prison inmates, probationers, parolees, and inmates under sentence of death, available spring 1994.
Send in your order today!

- In one book, you get a summary of criminal justice characteristics of the population under correctional supervision — admission type, release type, sentence length, escapes, probation and parole violations, facility crowding, and deaths in prison.
- The book presents data State by State, except for local jails.

- More than 150 pages of tables, questionnaires, and explanatory text represent all major components of corrections: probation, jail, prison, parole, and persons under sentence of death.
- Aggregate data describe inmates or persons under community supervision — their sex, race, and Hispanic origin.

- 26 large tables, based on individual-level data, present detailed information on persons who entered prison under sentence of death, who were executed, or whose capital sentence was removed. The information includes criminal history, sex, race, age, marital status, and level of education.

Notice of change in distribution policy

Because of the increased cost of printing, postage, shipping, and handling, BJS can no longer mail large documents without a specific individual order.

Readers will continue to receive Bulletins and Special Reports but must order large final reports such as Correctional Populations in the United States, 1992, using this order form.
